Visual excellence is just the beginning.

System 2040 is a unique, patented and easy to install modular mounting and presentation system, created by Joachim Gopfert with the cooperation of architects and designers from the BAUHAUS University, Germany.

Its flexibility allows it to be used creatively in shop fitting, office fitouts, exhibition stands, as well as interior design. In our complex world it conveys clear, understandable Bauhaus simplicity, style and spatiality.

Based on flexible modularity, System 2040 permits extensions and adjustments to your changing needs for minimal expense.

Simply Easier

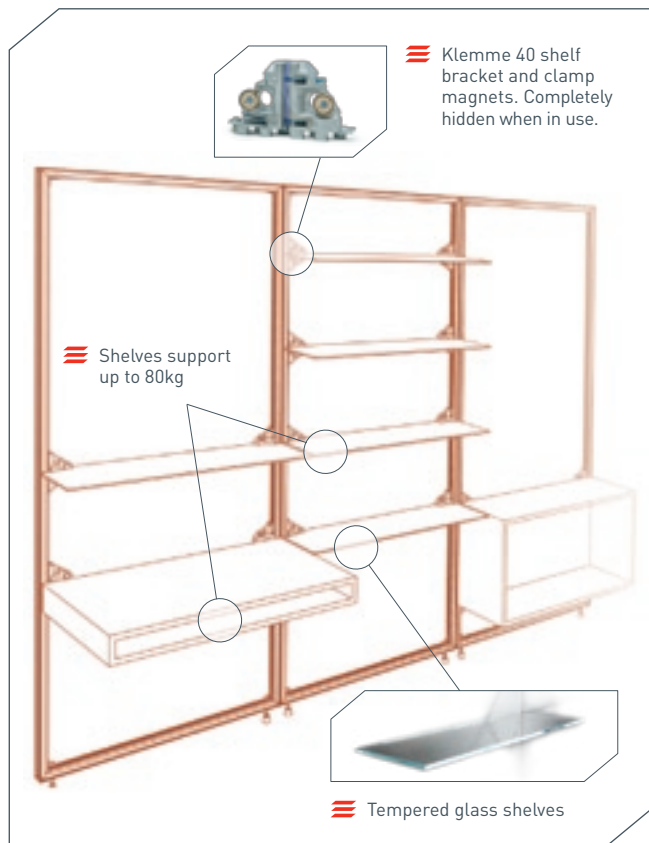

An invisible system which embraces cutting edge technologies.

System 2040 is unique in that it is invisible once installed; the easy-to-install frame structure uses an innovative clamp which can support 80kg to bind glass shelves, boxes, and wall panels to the frame. With these patented clamps hidden from view, and the requirement for supporting consoles and brackets eliminated, a stunning 'floating' effect is created.

This hidden clamp technology allows the powerful integration of almost any material.

The system's adaptable layout permits the free forming and implementation of creative design solutions.

With System 2040 you will always be able to update your displays as new technologies emerge; the systems easily integrates special effects and cutting edge technologies such as LED lighting, flat screen TVs and monitors, graphics, digital frames, and water features in its slim 40mm framework.

Used by the world's leading retailers, salons, spas and clinics, Europe's most acclaimed modular mounting and presentation system, System 2040, can give your space a unique visual edge.

With System 2040, visual excellence is just the beginning.
